Holmes, Murderer and Swindler, on Trial for His Life.

WILL PLEAD HIS OWN CAUSE.

His Lawyers Withdraw at His Sugges tion After an Ineffectual Attempt to Pestpone the Case.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 28.-H. H. who, according to his own re-confessions, stands at the head of the flat of modern criminals, was put on trial in the Court of Oyer and Terminer wealth prosecutors are District Attorney Geo. S. Graham and his special assistant, Samuel P. Rotam, young members of the junior bar of this city. Judge Michael Arnold is on the bench.

So many aliases have been worn by the man on trial during the course of his spectacular career that his baptismal name, Herman Mudgett, has almost been lost sight of. Not so his manifold exploits in half a dozen of the big cities of this country, which have been marveled at wherever men can read. Wild and weird as is the confessional story of his life in which he accuses himself of offenses which would long since have given a less skillful criminal his quietus, Holmes has been careful to shift the main responsibility for the various murders with which he admts having been connected to other shoulders. Thus, during the thirty-eight years of a life devoted almost entirely to law-breaking, this is his first experience as a felon on trial for his life. The authorities have recognized that this is no common criminal, but one who might be called a technical and most expert artist in crime. It is, therefore, their determination, in the event of securing his conviction for a capital offense, to "rail-road him to the gallows.

Since his arrest in Boston on Nov. 17.

of the case. He urged the lack of time for the preparation of the defense.

"There are three homicide cases involved in this case," he urged, "and we have had only as much time as would be adequate preparation on one. It was expected to present newly discovered evidence of such vital importance that Holmes would undoubtedly be acquitted of this charge."

Mr. Graham protested against the granting of a continuance, which he said would mean the absolute destruction of the commonwealth's case. Mr. Graham dwelt upon the severe strain under which Mrs. Pitegel has been put and said an examination into her mental condition made it apparent that were a continuance granted the commonwealth would lose its mos' important witness.

wealth would lose its mos' important witness.

Mr. Rotan of the defense renewed the plea for a respite, but it was overruled by Judge Arnold.

Mr. Shoemaker and Mr. Rotan created a mild sensation by saying that if the judge's decision was irrevocable they would withdraw from the case, but Judge Arnold spoiled this by declaring that a member of the bar who would withdraw from a murder case on the very eve of its trial would be called upon to show cause why he should not be disbarred for unprofessional conduct. Counsel did not appear anxious to accept this alternative, but before they could reply Mr. Graham arose: "As far as the plea of lack of money is concerned," he said, "I have positive knowledge that large sums of money were offered within the last week to prominent attorneys at this bar to come into the case as associate counsel for the defense, showing that there are funds at hand."

"Call a jury," said Judge Arnold.

actense, showing that there are funds at hand."
"Call a jury," said Judge Arnold.
"Will your honor allow the case to go over until to-morrow morning?" pleaded Mr. Rotan.
"Call a jury," said the judge firmly, and the calling of a jury was begun.
One juror had been admitted by the commonwealth when there was another sensation.

monwealth when there was another sensation.

Holmes arose in the dock and in a quavering voice said to Judge Arnold: "May it please the Court, I have no inclination to continue with the trial of this case with Mr. Rotan and Mr. Shoemaker as my counsel, feeling that in view of their desire to withdraw my interests would be damaged. I therefore discharge them as my counsel."

"You cannot discharge them, Mr. Holmes," answered Judge Arnold. "That is for the court, and if they withdraw from this case they will be punished."

"If." continued Holmes, his tones tremulous, "if your honor will give me until tomorrow to secure additional counsel."—

"We will have no more debate, Mr. Holmes; the matter is decided."

The examination of jurors was about to be proceeded with when Shoemaker again arose and stated that the prisoner absolutely forbade them from representing him in the case, and declared that he (Holmes) would examine the jurors and witnesses himself.

Judge Arnold said he would permit would examine the jurors and witnesses himself.

Judge Arnold said he would permit Holmes to question the jurers if he so desired, while counsel considered the question of their proceeding.

Holmes armed i i with pencil and paper and Enoch Thuser, the first juror, was turned over to him for examination. He had already stated in answer to Mr. Graham that he had formed an opinion in the case, but that he could nevertheless try it according to the evidence.

Holmes began with the surprising queries: "Mr. Turner, are you a married man? Are you physically well? Are you in a condition to serve in this case without delaying it?"

tion to serve in this case without delaying it?"

Receiving satisfactory answers, he took up the question of having formed an opinion and challenged peremptorily.

The next man, Frederick Slump, Sr., grocer, had formed no opinion and was accepted both by Mr. Graham and by Holmes. At this juncture, Messrs, Rotan and Shoemaker arose and declared that they felt obliged to withdraw from the case regardless of consequences.

"You must take the consequences, then," said the Judge, and the two lawyers, without further ado, left the court-room. Still determined to have no delay, however, the commonwealth's officers consulted with the Judge and then called upon Everett A. Schofield and J. M. Fahey, young members of the bar, who agreed to assume the grave responsibility, with all the aid possible, from Mr. Graham.

Holmes, however, objected on the ground

FRANKLIN DUFF'S

Is Franklin Duff, lumber merchant of 1401 Union Trust Building, alive or dead?

Mr. Duff spent Sunday afternoon in his office indicting notices of his approaching demise to his wife and lawyer and the public. Then he went home and ate supper with his family, kissed his wife and daughter good-by and then disappeared.

Duff had to meet a note for $2,500 at noon

At 7 o'clock Monday morning a scrub woman in the Union Trust Building en-tered room 1401, on the fourteenth floor, for "Notify Mrs. F. Duff, 3899 Washington avenue. Take my body to Scott & Lynch, undertakers, 4114 Olive street. There is no need of an inquest. This is a plain case of need of an inquest. This is a plain case of need of an inquest. This is a plain case of the woman and she promptly notified Manager Kingsbury of the Union Trust Building. He made a complete examination. Besides the note he discovered a letter addressed to Mrs. F. Duff, 3899 Washington avenue.

Manager Kingsbury at once notified the police and an officer soon was on the scene. A further examination of the room resulted in the discovery of a hole in the side of the concrete vauit, apparently made by a bullet. Particles of concrete were found by seady drilling. No report was heard by say of the employees. A diligent search failed to find the builet or a revolver.;

In Monday morning's mail Mrs. Duff received a letter from her husband. When she read it she shrieked and swooned.

"Frank has killed himself," she cried to the knot of sympathetic neighbors who had revived her. When partially composed she put on the wraps and hastened to the Union. Trust Building to seek Judge Seddon.

She refused to make known the contents of the letter and everyone about the house was cautioned to say nothing to reporters. The message to Mrs. Duff contained in the letter in Capt. O'Malley's possession was delivered to Miss Duff, who was surrounded by sympathizing friends in her room. She said.

"Poor papa was at his office nearly all day Sunday and his business affairs were worrying him greatly. He was at home for supner and left about 6:30 o'clock in the evening. As he was standing on the steps he threw his arms around me and kissed memost affectionately and said: "Good-bye.

They Are Beaten Off With the Loss of Two of Their Number and Martin Is Spirited Away.

TIFFIN, O., Oct. 28 .- The drunken, desperate mob which stormed the jail here Sunday morning, with the object of lynch-ing Lee Martin, has been beaten off after two of the assailants were killed; and the slayer of Marshall Schultz has been secretly conveyed by the police to Sandusky County The mob was not made up of farmers, but sprang from the slums and alleys of the sprang from the siums and alleys of the town. Its members were crazed by whisky, blinded by passion, and dangerous as mad dogs. Some of these follows had been lurking all night in the neighborhood of the jail, but their purpose was scarcely suspected, and their capacity for violence had been underestimated by the authori-

Shortly after 1 o'clock six men met on the lawn near the jail and were presently joined by some thirty others. Then a sharp whistle was heard, and out of an alley on the opposite side of the street and a little to the west came fully 300 more, the leaders carrying a rope and several sledge hammers with which to accomplish their purpose. As the mob made the rush toward the jail they emitted yells that were blood-curdling. A squad of policemen who had stationed themselves on the steps were whisked to one side as though they were so many straws. Officer Kelfer, who made a brave and flerce resistance, was struck on the head with a sledge and kicked brutally. He was carried home unconscious and has since been hovering between life and death. Officer Fisher wa. thrown against a brick wall and partially stunned, and Officer Hennessy was tumbled over in the grass and kept there by a ruffian who held a murderous-looking club over him and threatened death if he did not lie still. The other officers were treated in the same way. The mob went direct to the side entrance

DIED IN THE STREET.

Mrs. Wright's Baby Expired in a Com-panion's Arms.

Misery worse than her poverty was the lot of Mrs. Sarah Wright when her 8-months old child. Caroline, died in the arms of her friend. Ella Morris, at Second and Madison streets Monday morning. The little one passed from life into death so quickly that none of the little group knew of it until some minutes after she had died.

Mrs. Wright had been visiting Ella Morris, who lives with her husband in a tent on the river bank between Venice and East St. Louis. This morning she decided to return to her home at Fern Ridge, near Creve Coeur Lake, and Mrs. Morris went with her. Mrs. Wright took her sick baby in her arms and her other children, Lizzie and George, accompanied her.

Before leaving her friend's tent, Mrs. Wright saw that the condition of little Carolline was serious and took her to Dr. Hess of Venice for Ireatment. He decided that the baby had tonsilitis and prescribed secordingly. After giving the child the medicine the little party were rowed to this side of the river in a skiff and landed at the foot of Madison street.

Mrs. Morris then relieved the tired mother of her burden and bore the child up the hill to Second street. As they neared Engine House No. 26, Mrs. Morris thought the child was growing drowsy and sought to arouse her by standing her on her feet. She found the little one limp and her lips so blue that she knew the child was dead. She informed Mrs. Wright that the little one was no more, and the broken-hearted mother sank to the ground with a piteous moan. Bystanders rushed up and some of the firemen of Co. No. 25 took the child and the mourners into the engine house.

Mrs. Wright was chattering with the cold and Mrs. Morris' cheeks were blue from the breeze of the river, as they sat holding the dead child on their laps walting for the dead wagon.

In this way the mourners waited until the dead wagon arrived to carry the pinched little body to the Morgue. In the meantime the people of the neighborhood dropped in and expressed their sympathy by filling the poor woman's purse with coln.

IS VICTORIA INSANE?

Her Freaks Cause Great Anxiety About Balmoral.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.-In a cable letter to the Times its London correspondent says: There seems to be no doubt that Queen Victoria is passing again through one of those phases of semi-insanity which recall that she is George III.'s granddaughter. that she is George III.'s granddaughter. These in the 'To's were rather frequent; of late years they have recurred less often, but for six weeks now the worst of the series has been giving everybody about Balmoral much anxiety and ceaseless trouble. Rumors began to circulate in London a week ago that things were wrong and a modified form of them has been printed in Dublin, but nowhere else, although private letters from Scotland show that it is common knowledge there. It seems to have had its origin in the death of a young nephew of John Brown, who had some obscure post about Balmoral, but for whom the Queen burst forth in a vehement mourning which took all by surprise. Since then she has been going to his grave and to Brown's in all weather and doing other extraordinary things of a crazy character which it is upossible any longer to ignore. upossible any longer to ignore.

Mrs. Kahn is just from Atlanta, where she attended the Women's Congress and delivered two lectures. She has been engaged in this work three months, and now has six girls at school—two at Ann Arbor, two at Vassar, one at Barnard and one at Hardin—as the result of 30 lectures; begun at San Francisco.

Mrs. Kahn has imposed this novel mission upon herself, to bring her adopted race through its feminine branch, into closer intellectual and social relations with the Gentile public. She is a native of Ann Arbor, and a graduate of the University of Michigan. Being unable to accept the Christian faith, in which she was raised, Miss Ward, as she then was, adopted Judasm, and afterwards married a gentleman of that faith.

THE NICARAGUA

Must Be Under the Auspices of Some Strong Government.

AN ENGLISHMAN'S OPINION.

Report of a Correspondent Sent to Look Over the Situation by the London Times.

LONDON, Oct. 28.-The Times to-day pub-LONDON, Oct. 28.—The Times to-day publishes a three-column article on the proposed ship canal to join the Atlantic and Pacific oceans through the Republic of Nicaragua. The article is written by A. R. Colquehoun, a correspondent who was specially sent by the Times to Nicaragua at about the time the United States Government Commission went to that country in order to report upon the feasibility of the plans of the Maritime Canal Co. of Nicaragua and the Nicaragua Canal Construction Co. In Nicaragua Mr. Colquehoun met the United States Commission and is understood to have thoroughly sion and is understood to have thoroughly studied the plans for the inter-oceanic waterway. He arrived at the conclusion that the project cannot be carried through as a private enterprise, but that it must be under the auspices of "some strong government, which, without doubt, must be the United States."

the project cannot be carried through as a private enterprise, but that it must be under the auspices of "some strong government, which, without doubt, must be the United States."

The Times' correspondent is convinced, however, that the cost of cutting the suggested waterway will be nearer $150,000,000 than $100,000,000.

Continuing, Mr. Colquehoun says: "As regards the political aspect, confidential communications are said to have passed between the British and United States Governments, and no objections have been raised. In any case, it would seem that, under the Clayton-Bulwer treaty of 1850, any connection between the Atlantic and Pacific by a ship cansi through Nicaragua will have to be neutralized in the same way as the Suez Canal in 1888.

"The object of the bill recently passed by the United States Senate, it is practically clear, is to acquire control of the canal. This is a matter which concerns not only the United States but the world at large, more especially Great Britain. But for the obstacles hindering the United States Government itself in undertaking the construction, it would have been completed long ago.

"The work is so great, the benefits are so transcendent and the interests involved so vast and complex that it should be removed from the chances of private enterprise, affected, as it would be by the stringency or the fluctuations of the money market and the attitude of the Governments of Nicaragua and Costa Rica."

Mr. Colquehoun also inspected the route of the proposed canal through the Isthmus of Panama and he estimates that even if it is feasible not more than one-third of the work has been executed and that it would cost largely over $200,000,000 to complete it. He regards the Chagres River and the Culebra Cut portions of the Panama canal plans as being insurmountable obstacles to the completion of that undertaking.

The nærrowness of a country home had instilled in him a saving spirit, and even as a child he was fond of hearding his pennics. When chided for this he would say that without knowledge a man could accomplish nothing, and that to gain knowledge money was necessary. He was ambitious to attend the medical school at Burlington, Vt. and just about the time that he had saved enough to accomplish this he married a country girl. But with that determination which has made his record of crime such a notable one he did not let his marriage interfere with his main purpose in life, and a year later he came out of the medical college, having finished his studies there, and went to Ann Arbor, Mich., to complete his education. BUSINESS PROPERTY SOLD.

Site on O'Fallon Street Purchased by Geo. T. Riddle for $41,000.

George T. Riddle, President of the Mississippi Planing Mill Co. has purchased a half block of business property through the agency of Giraldia Bros. & Cates, for $41,000.

The property was owned by the Frost heirs, and is situated on O'Fallon street, between Thirteenth and Fourtenth streets. About twenty-five years ago the Mississippi Planing Mill Co. leased the lot and crected a half frame, half brick structure, for manufacturing business. During the past few years business has increased so much that it was decided to enlarge the building. But the ground lease had almost run out and negotiations were begun to purchase the site outright.

The lot has a frontage of 193 feet on O'Fallon street, 277 feet on Thirteenth, 173 on Fourteenth and 270 feet on the alley or inside line.

Realty agents have numerous inquiries for property in this immediate vicinity for manufacturing purposes. Gradually buildings which were once fine residences are and Columbus streets. The country girl whom he married in Glimartin had remained at her home and was there nursing her infant. Finally Holmes resolved to return to Chicago and try another hazard. In Chicago he met his former accomplide, another piot, precisely like the first, was concocted, and $10,000 was obtained witchout difficulty. With his share of the money Holmes opened a drug store. Then he met another woman who caught his fancy and married her, and another child was born to him.

another woman who caught his fancy and married her, and another child was born to him.

He was now a business man of standing, and, having secured the confidence of people with whom he did business, he tried his hand at many different styles of swindling and was successful in all of them. In time he accumulated a fortune of $30,000, and when the place got too hot for him to carry longer he ran away to California. But Chicago possessed a charm for him, and after some months he returned to it and organized the Yates-Campbell Co., for a general brokerage business. Whether Holmes had a partner in this scheme is not known. It was certain that he was the "Campbell" of the firm, and there is reason to believe that he was also the "Yates."

During the time that he was busy organising the company, Holmes had met a very pretty stenographer named Minnie R. Williams. He wheedled out of her the information that she and her sister, Alice, had inherited from an uncle $50,000 worth of property in Fort Worth, Tex. Alice was in Midiothian, Tex., teaching school. Holmes hired Minnie to work for the Yates-Campbell Co., and so great an impression did he make upon her that she shortly consented to live with him, and the couple began housekeeping in the Sixty-third street house. Soon after this the Yates-Campbell Co. went out of business.

and Holmes says now that he helped her out of the country, and that she is now in Europe.

The disappearance of the girls caused but little talk, for they had few acquaintances, and nothing more was thought of them until one day in the early part of February, 1895, a man, who said he was Benton T. Lyman, appeared in Fort Worth and filed a deed for a person named Bond for a piece of real estate in Rush street. "Lyman" is believed to have been Pitesel, and "Bond" was certainly Holmes, A three-story house was built on the ground under the superintendence of Holmes, who was then known as "O. C. Pratt." Less than a month later Holmes disappeared, leaving numerous creditors, and then Pitesel sold a few lots and also disappeared. The couple had bought a drove of horses with notes on the Fort Worth property, and shipped them to St. Louis, where Pitesel's family lived. Holmes was now known as "Howard."

The next known of Holmes was when he appeared in Franklin, Ind. as a sultor for the hand of Miss Yoke, whom he had met in Cheago. When he proposed marriage, Miss Yoke asked him to explain how it was that his name was Howard, when formerly it had been Holmes. This was easy, He explained that an uncle had promised to leave his fortune to him provided he changed his name. Holmes and Miss Yoke were married in January. 1882. The honey-moon was spent in Leadville, where, according to a recent statement made by Holmes, he secured $27,000 by a 'trick."

While in St. Louis, Holmes, in accordance with his usual custom, had visited the city prison. Here he met a train robber named Hedgepeth, and a friendship sprang up bey tween the two. Hedgepeth said he knew a young lawyer named Jephetha Howe, who me was not overscrupulous. All 'this time the scheme of swinding the Philadelphia insurance company was a fresh as ever in the mind of Holmes. In October his applied for insurance under the mame of "H. H. Holmes." The application was greated which, by the way, was never redeemed. Having thus established an identity. Holmes introduced B. T. Pliesel, who insurance which he premium was paid with a hote, which, by the way was never redeemed. Having thus established an identity. Holmes introduced B. T. Pliesel, who insurance his life for $10,000. Last August a money order was received by the company in payment of the premium. This money, a order came from New York, although it was made to appear that it was sent from St. Louis. This policy was issued in November, 1883, and in the early part of Septitember, 1883, the company received notice that Pitezel was dead.

In due time the insurance money was paid to Mrs. Pitezel, and Holmes, to console the widow, told her that in a short time she would see her husband alive. Whether Pitezel is dead or not, has not yet been plainly shown. One of the theories advanced was that Holmes, in an effort to improve on the old system of swindling life insurance companies, had induced Pitezel to submit duced himself. Lawyer Howe arrived about the same time, and when he was asked if he knew Holmes he replied that he did not.

On October 18 last W. E. Gerry, a secret agent of the insurance company, was shown a letter by Chief of Folice Harrigan of St. Louis which bore the name of Marion C. Hedgepeth. The letter read:

There has been a $10,000 swindle worked upon a Philadelphia life insurance company, and possibly a murder committed in making it. Seven thousand five hundred dollars of the money has aiready been paid and $2,500 is yet in the bank, owing to a squabble over the fee that House is wanting for his part in it. I can give some interesting information regarding it, and persaps save the insurance company something if they are notified at once.

Hedgepeth was the train robber whose acquaintance Holmes had made, and who he thought would probably be useful him some day. The insurance company was backward about prosecuting the omatice, but Agent Gerry went to work and sooth had evidence enough to make the company anxious to begin a rigid-investigation.

This investigation developed the fact of the disappearance of the three Pitezel children. It was learned that when Alice Pitezel came to Philadelphia with Lawyer Howe to identify the body the can in which they traveled was so crowded that they had to occupy different seats. Molmes was on the train and he made his presence known to the girl. After the insurance money had been paid Howe and Alice west to Indianapolis. The girl was placed in the Siebbins House and Howe and Alice west to Indianapolis. The girl was placed in the siebbins house and Howe went on too St. Louis and told Mrs. Pitezel that everything was all right, and that Alice was with a friend. He wanted Howard Pitezel, 9 years old, and Nellie Pitezel that they were all right.

When the exposure came Holmes had his plans laid for flight. In order to remove dangerous persons he induced Mrs. Pitezel consented, and Howe paid her safe for the children's fare and expenses and gave her soot for herself. Ho

The Police Begin Another Crusade Against "Bath-Houses,"

WEST ENDERS COMPLAINED.

Members of Reputable Families Said to Frequent the Haunts in the "Burnt District."

A lively crusade is being waged by Capt.
O'Malley of the Central District police against the alleged "bath houses" in his district. Orders were issued by Chief Hardistrict. Orders were research or rigan several days ago to close these injustions institutions, and accordingly Detectives Danaher and Gocking were put on the case to secure evidence against the

the case to secure evidence against the keepers.

For some time complaints have been coming to the police against the women who run immoral resorts under the guise of bath establishments. These places have come to be regarded as the vilest dens of iniquity and the evil has grown until steps had to be taken to gappress it.

Young girls have been enticed to their ruln in many of them and the downfall of dozens of young men is directly traceable to the reckless women who run them. So brazen have these women become that they have advertised their houses in the newspapers and even had handbills printed and distributed on the streets. The newspaper advertisements necessarily shad to be guarded, but the language of the handbills were so candid that even the uninitiated could surmise the true character of the places advertised.

The raids began Sunday afternoon and were kept up till late that night. Six keepers and three or four inmates were arrested. Mrs. Rens Ellsworth, who hokis forth at Hotel Burnett, Fifteenth and Pine streets, was one of the first women pulled in. Clara Elmore's house, at 26 South Twenty-first street, was next in order. It is one of the worst places in town, in the opinion of the police.

At 1600 Pine street Mrs. Emma Roberts, a handsome woman with black eyes, runs a "lacteopathy" establishment. She is an extensive advertiser, and her house has been a favorite trysting place for young people making questionable engagements. The police have had their eye on it for some time.

The police have had their eye on it for some time.

Its peculiar location enabled men and women to reach it from any of the car lines from the West End without passing through a questionable neighborhood. Mrs. Roberts, as well as others among the so-called bath-house keepers, has been suspected of harboring girls connected with respectable families. She has been frequently complained of, but the police have never been able to catch any of the girls in the house.

The raids of yesterday were directly caused by the complaints of well-to-do chizens.

Mamie Williams, a Chicago brunette, was found in Mrs. Roberts' house and lodged in the Four Courts hold-over as an inmate.

Jennie Howard's establishment at 2307 Market street was swooped down upon in the early hours of the evening and the keeper was sent to the hold-over in the hoodlum wagon. Minnie Mansfield, a rather angular widow at 1118 Pine street, was also-raided and Bessie Williams and the keeper were arrested. The last place where an arrest was made was 1410 Olive street. Annie Sylvester, the keeper, was captured there. It was reported at the Four Courts that a number of young men and girls were found in the houses raided. The detectives had orders to arrest the inmates and keepers and if there were any frequenters found they were allowed to go. The police are silent on this score.

His collision with the earth stunned him for a moment, but still he did not lose his senses. Other workmen, seeing him fall, rushed to pick him up, expecting to find him crushed into a shapeless mass, but Sherman, though speechless from lack of breath, motioned them away. Presently he recovered his breath, got up without assistance and walked away.

Salesman William G. McClelland Disappears Without Apparent Cause.

William G. McClelland, a salesman in the hat department of the J. L. Hudson Co.'s store, has been missing since Saturday.
On the afternoon of that day he received a telegram announcing that his mother-inlaw was coming from Evansville, Ind., for a visit, and he was to meet her at the station. He drew his pay and asked per-nothing save foul play could keep him away from her.

Mrs. Carrie Piper, corner of Eleventh street and St. Louis avenue, is a sister of McCleiland's first wife, who has been dead three years. She has had charge of their two-children since her sister's death and is shocked beyond expression at her brother-law's disappearance. She fears he has killed himself, as she says he seemed remarkably sad when she saw him last Wednesday.

Mr. Slattery, who has charge of the department in which McCleiland worked, said that the missing man had been employed in his department for years, and was always steady and no known reason existed why. he should disappear. The salesmen, appear to think he has left the city Intentionally.

McCleiland was a well-known amateur base ball player, and this seuson was a member of the Murphysboro Clarkes.

AT THE THEATERS.

No Novelties at Any of the Local Houses Last Night.

"A Trip to Chinatown" opened at the Grand last night to a house which seemed to appreciate the old piece as much as ever. The feature of the performance was the The feature of the performance was the return of Anna Boyd to the part of the Widow Guyer, a role which she made famous during the early months of the New York run. While there have been prettier women in this part, there have been none mere piquant or pleasing and the charming Anna was given a warm reception.

Harry Conor was seen again as Welland Strong, a character he is now so thoroughly identified with that it would be hard to divorce him. Of course he was funny. Harry Gilfoil whistled with his accustomed skill and was encored repeatedly. Ben Gay in the hands of James R. Smith was cleverly rendered.

It's a rare thing for a theater to turn people away at a mattinee, even on Sunday. But this is what the Hagan did. The attraction was Primrose & West's ministrels and by 1:30 o'clock there was not a seat to be had. At night it was the same thing over again. Manager Hagan stood beside Manager Garland of the show and they both had tears in their eyes as they watched the people carrying good money away, because there were no seats.

The ministrels are a clever lot of fellows. George Wilson and Jimmy Wall and Primrose himself caught the crowd with their singing and dancing and simply had to refuse encores. Some of the vocalists in the company are especially clever. A. W. Hulme, a baritone, has a voice of remarkable power. Willie Windom, James W. Reagan and John H. Davis, who are with the company, are all singers of reputation.

There are at least twenty real darkies in the show and they sing the real old "nigger songs." The smallest of them all, Master Eddle, they call him, has one of the sweetest of voices. He is not over 10 years of age, but in all the choruses his voice could be heard sounding high and sweet above the others.

"The Land of the Midnight Sun" was produced at Havlin's yesterday to two very good houses. Ethwin Barbour, the author, has made of Hall Caine's novel. "The Bondman," a thrilling play and one which admits of fine scenic effects. There is a volcanic eruption and an explosion of some sulphur mines, which are admirably put on from a scenic standpoint. The company which presents the piece is a capable one and were vociferously applauded.

The Union Theater opened its doors yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock for the first time and made a bid for patronage. Considering the fact that the new venture has been so little heralded, the audience which gathered was a large one and in the evening it increased in numbers.

The entertainment offered was entirely vaudeville, although the management expects shortly to produce standard plays. A stock company for this purpose is being secured. There were some numbers on the bill yesterday which were good, but it is hardly fair to judge the management by the opening performance. Next week's booking shows a marked improvement in the excellence of the attractions.

The new theater is in the old Harmonie Club at Eighteenth and Olive streets. Performances begin at 2 p. m. and run until 11 p. m. A special effort is being made to please the women folk, a nursery being provided for the bables.

Sam T. Jack's Bull Fighters proved such

Sam T. Jack's Bull Fighters proved such an attraction last week at the Standard that Manager Butler determined to keep them in his house another week. A noticeable feature about this company is the unusual shapeliness of the burlesquers. There is missing that obesity, which, with such organizations, makes quantity rather than quality appear the thing sought for.

The Olympic opens to-night with one of the features of the season—Katheryn Kidder in "Mme. Sans-Gene." The play has been produced here in French, but this will be the first time the English-speaking public will have a fair chance to judge of its merits.

MISSING MINNIE NADLER.

Relative Are Alarmed.

There is every indication that Minnie Nadier of Okawville, Ill., has been enticed away or kidnapped.

She left her home Saturday morning on the Louisville and Nashville train for St. Louis. August Brumeyer of Okawville saw her on the train. In the same seat with her was a flashily-attired blonde woman. That was the last seen of her by her friends. That her arrived in the city, however, is indicated by the fact that her trunk arrived here, and was claimed, either by herself or some unknown person, and seen to the residence of Mrs. Bertha Walters, 2024 Hickory street.

Miss Valler was to spend the winter at rived last Wednesday, but something delayed her trip until Saturday. Her brother, thenry Nadler, and Mrs. Walter and her brother, O. Eisenring, went to the Union Station to meet her. It is a two-hours' ride from Okawville to the Union Station. Mr. Brumeyer saw them waiting, and remarked that he had seen Minnie on the train sitting with an unknown woman. This was not regarded as important, however, as the train was crowded.

She did not get off the train at the Union Station. Thinking that she had left the train at the Main street depot, the relatives went there fo look for her, but she was not to be found. The conductor of the train had seen her just before the train roossied the bridge. He did not know where she got off.

The missing girl is 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighs 130 pounds; wore a blue cloth cape when last seen. She is a brunette and decidedly pretty. She belongs to a wealthy family of Okawville, and is well educated. She has not the appearance of a country girl. Mrs. Walters says she is a trifle gay, and she fears that the strange woman may have induced Minnie to go with her. Her relatives are almost frantic.

DOWN TO ZERO.

The St. Louis Cold Snap Discounted at Qu'Appelle.

The first zero weather of the season we reported to Forecast Official Frankenfield Monday morning, but it is a long way off and will not reach 8t. Louis this trip.

Qu'Appelle, in the Northwest, is the place where winter has begun its seige by pushing the mercury down to nothing.

In St. Louis the fall in the temperature was 18 degrees, which is just two points short of the official cold wave prediction. The Weather Bureau temperature early Monday morning was 34 degrees, and Sunday morning was 52 degrees. It was up to 78 degrees Saturday afternoon, so that the mercury column, was reduced one-half in a little over thirty-six hours. Fair and warmer weather is predicted for Tuesday.

MAIL FROM THE WRECK. Arrival of Letters Damaged in the

Newport Smash-Up. The first batch of St. Louis mail which was in the disastrous train wreck at New port, near Altoona, Pa., last Thursday morning, reached the Postmaster Monday morning.

About fifty singed letters were contained in a dozen official envelopes. All of the letters were burned more or less and were so brittle that the paper cracked unless delicately handled. Some were so badly scorched that the address could scarcely be deciphered. Of course, many letters went up in smoke and left no traces.

Letters will continue to arrive for the next two weeks as fast as the railway mail officials decipher the addresses.

HIT WITH THE PIPE. Usual Order of Things Reversed in an Opium Joint.

Joe Raw, Je Lin and Jen Chung, natives of the Flowery Kingdom, quarreled Sunday afternoon at 16 South Eighth street. The former received a blow on the head with an opium pipe, which cut a severe gash in his scalp. His injuries were dressed at the dispen-sary. His assailants escaped.

WITH A CAT RIFLE.

She Is Handsome and Gay and Her Seven-Year-Old Albert Brown Acci-Relatives Are Alarmed. dentally Kills His Little Brother.

An idle conversation Sunday afternoon started a train of circumstances which resulted at II o'clock Sunday night in the death of 2-year-old Charley Brown at the home of his father, 8029 South Broadway, from a builet wound accidentally inflicted by his 7-year-old brother Albert.

home of his father, 302 South Broadway, from a bullet wound accidentally inflicted by his 7-year-old brother Albert.

Shortly before 3 c'clock in the afternoon Ernest and Gus Irwim of 1713 South Broadway visited Frederick Brown, who is a laborer employed at Wallstein's lumber yard. Brown's house is a one-story frame of two rooms, and the visitors were entertained in the kitchen. Ernest Irwin is a machinist and the conversation turned upon his work. Brown had a 2-calibre cat rifle which had been returned to him out of order by persons to whom he had loaned it to shoot frogs a few days previous. It needed a screw and Brown asked Ernest Irwin if he could not make a new one for it. The rifle was on a shelf in the kitchen and Brown got it down for Irwin to examine. Brown laid the weapon on the kitchen opens upon a common extending to Broadway. As Brown laid the weapon down a fire engine dashed by on Broadway. Every one rusfied to the window to see it save little Albert. Brown, the Irwins, Charley and Sadie Smith, who is employed by Mrs. Brown, clustered about the window, but 7-year-old Albert was interfested in the rifle. The muzzle of the gun as it lay on the table was pointed directly at the group in the window. Albert put his thumb upon the hammer and pulled it back. He released it before it had reached half-cock and the next moment there was a slight report and Charley sank to the floor with the blood pouring from a wound on the right side of the head back of the ear.

The report was so slight that it was scarcely noticed by those at the window. Sadie Smith saw the little fellow fall, and her cries and those of Albert informed the others of the tragedy.

Charley was placed in his little crib in the others of the tragedy.

Charley was placed in his little crib in the other room and an effort made to staunch the blood, while a physician was summoned. The child was unconscious and when Dr. Julian of 7603 Virginia avenue reached the house he found that nothing could be done. The little fellow did not recover conscio conduct unbecoming a minister growing out of his alleged elopement with Miss Mae Ritchie, a member of his congregation, was begun by the St. Louis Presbytery at 1516

Bitchle, a member of his congregation, was begun by the St. Louis Presbytery at 1516 Lucas place at 1 p. m. Monday. At the session of the presbytery held Monday, Oct. 21, the time was consumed with a discussion of the mode of trial.

Mr. Lee is not attending the trial and his whereabouts is unknown. He was stated clerk of the St. Louis Presbytery for many years and was pastor of the McCausland Avenue Presbyterian Church at Benton. His wife was an invalid for years and spent much of her time in sanitariums. Miss Mae Ritchle, daughter of a leading family of Benton was an active member of the church and the gossips linked her name with that of Rev. Lee in a manner that stirred the suburb to the bottom.

Mr. Lee resigned his pastorate last Januanry ostensibly on account of failing health. Soon afterward he disappeared and his wife came from Pittsburg to learn what truth there was in the cruel rumors. At the critical moment she did not have courage to get off the train at Benton and went to a relative at Kirkwood. Thence she went to relatives in Southern Missouri and lived in retirement.

About the time that Rev. Lee left St.

About the time that Rev. Lee left St. Louis Miss Ritchie got permission to visit relatives in Louisville, Ky. Reports blew thick and fast after her departure and her family sent word to Louisville for her to return. The answer came from the family who entertained her that she had gone to Birmingham, Ala., to visit other friends. Since then neither she nor Rev. Lee has been heard from, although a recent report Since then neither she nor Rev. Lee has been heard from, although a recent report had it that he was in St. Louis and others have said that he was seen in Denver.

Miss Ritchie vanished as completely as if the earth had opened and swallowed her. Her father, who is a river pilot, was at his post of duty when his daughter's disappearance from Louisville was announced. The blow fell hard on him and his family. It is not believed that Rev. Lee's trial before the presbytery will bring out any more facts. The principal witness is the defendant's deserted wife.

UNDERWRITERS' REBATES.

The Investigation of Charges Against Several Members.

The fight in the Board of Fire Under writers over rebating charges against certain members promises to continue for some time. At Saturday afternoon's meeting six of the seven charges against the firm of Wall & Whittemore were reported on. The committees which investigated the charges were made up of nearly the en-

on. The committees which investigated the charges were made up of nearly the entire board, three to each committee.

The reports, as presented to the board Saturday, were on the charges of having paid rebates to Oliver E. Hart, H. McK. Wilson, Joseph Peters Furniture Co., Jeremiah Murphy, Coyle & Sargent, Cahill, Swift & Co. and Jules Bernero.

The board took a vote on the six charges, and decided that Wall & Whittemore were not guilty as charged. The vote was unanimous except for one member, who voted "no" on each charge.

The seventh charge was not acted upon because the committee had not yet made the investigation. Mr. Whittemore expressed the opinion to a Post-Dispatch reporter Monday morning that when the committee made its report Monday afternoon its report would unquestionably show his firm to be not guilty.

It is understood from a reliable source, that charges will be brought at once against other members of the board for rebating to customers, and it is believed that the fight may result in the disruption of the board. At least three companies have said to their local agents that they will stand behind them in case they resign from or are expelled from the board. In that event, with no agreement to prevent, rate-cutting and rebating would become general. It is known that there is considerable feeling in the board over the belief that a clique is running the affairs of the board in a manner best suited to its own interests.

rine of the Sacred Heart of Jesus

The shrine of the Sacred Heart of Jesus at the Visitation Convent, Cabanne, was dedicated Sunday afternoon with solemn pomp and ceremony in the presence of several thousand people.

Many sick and deformed persons were present in the hope of obtaining miraculous relief through the efficacy of the relic of the Blessed Margaret Mary.

Rev. Fr. Edward Fenlon, asisted by Rev. Fr. Thomas F. Brown and Rev. J. J. Brown, blessed the shrine, the reliquery and the statue of the Angel Gabriel. Rev. Fr. Joseph Grummelsman, S. J., Fresdent of the St. Lonis University, preached.

After the flag of the Sacred Heart was blessed and beisted the sacrament was carried from the convent chapel to the shrine in solemn procession and the assembled throng kneeled in adoption. The ceremonics lasted until 5 octo.

Oscar de Mojean, a brother, who is in the theatrical business at Kansas City, arrived Sunday morning to take charge of the funeral and affairs of the late Marquis. The estate, in cash and securities, foots up $25,000.

THE ELEVATOR BONDS.

President Andersen Still Hopes They Can Be Negotiated.

According to President W. T. Anderson the affairs of the St. Louis United Elevator are in a fair way to be settled in a manner the affairs of the St. Louis United Elevator are in a fair way to be settled in a manner satisfactory to all concerned. Up to Monday morning, $310,000 of the new second mortgage bonds had either been directly subscribed for, or spoken for verbally.

A committee of the C., B. & Q. road, which is largely interested in the stock, is looking into the advisability of that road taking its pro rata of the bonds, about $40,000 worth. The purchase of the bonds must be confirmed by the general officers of the company, and it is understood that they are favorable.

This will leave $135,000 of bonds still unsubscribed. President Anderson has inserted an advertisement in the papers, calling on those stockholders who are not of record, and whose names are not on the bonds.

To a Post-Dispatch reporter he said Monday that while he did fat expect any difficulty in placing the unsold bonds, he wanted it understood that if they were not promptly taken, the property would necessarily pass into other hands.

As stated in the Post-Dispatch some time ago, several of the larger stockholders are anxious to get hold of the property, and if the bonds are not taken, a receiver will probably be asked for, and the elevators and real estate sold out.

This action can be forced by the Mississippi Valley Trust Company, to whom a debt of $275,000 is due, or it can be done on or shortly after January 1 in case the company should default on its interest.

The stock has for some time been siling very low. Saturday's sales were at $11, vir. $11.50 asked. There are few buyers, however, bold enough to touch the stock.

It is understood that the October statement will show the company to have broken about even on the month. The shortage of the wheat crop in this section has prevented the company so far from making any money, but the immense corn crop will begin to move in a few days, and from it the officers of the company expect to make considerable money.

This judgment is for services rendered by the plaintiff in protecting Carroll's seat in the State Legislature when his election was contested by his Republican opponent. The Legislature voted Carroll $125 attorney's fees, but after drawing this Macklin claims he stuck it in his pocket, leaving the lawyer to hold the bag.

"After Carroll had been elected on the returns." said Macklin Monday, "his opponent decided to contest the seat. He came to me in great trouble and I promised to help him on condition that I should get whatever fee the Legislature might appropriate. I made a hard fight for him and prevented any evidence of fraud getting before the House, but the other side got a resolution through ordering Higgins to open the boxes anyway.

"This was done and Carroll was found to have been defeated. Before the Elections Committee of the House I made an argument, basing my claim on the technicality that the House had no right to open the boxes until there was evidence of fraud submitted, which there had not been in this case. The committee took the same view and Carroll kept the seat.

"Later Carroll informed me that the Legislature had appropriated no fee, so I thought I was left out in the cold. A few weks ago I met a member who told me size had been set aside for this purpose. I wrote to the State Treasurer and found that Carroll had drawn the money. I demanded it of him and he refused it. Then I brought suit and got judgment, putting in my claim all my expenses, for which Carroll had not advanced a cent."

TO CHECK DIPHTHERIA.

The announcement that diphtheria is getting worse every week should not arouse alarm. The present spell of dry weather cannot continue much longer. and the rains that are likely to follow it will by flushing sewers and cleansing streets do much to sweep away the filth and germs that the disease feeds upon,

Meanwhile, it is the duty of citizens to take every known precaution against a further spread of the disease. As soon as a serious case of sore throat develops a physician should be sent for, whose instructions should be strictly carried out. Especially as to isolating the case, where it is found to be diphtheritic, no lack of vigilance should be allowed. AN ADVANTAGEOUS POSITION.

Recent developments indicate that the United States hold a strong hand in the diplomatic game.

The news of the Chino-Russian treaty has brought out two hints which point to the easy victory of the United States in any reasonable demand she may make with regard to complications on this continent in which we are interested. The report comes from England that the government realizes the isolation of Great Britain in European politics and is afraid of Russia in the Orient. Cut off from European alliances and with the Turkish and Chinese questions seething with dangers, Lord Salisbury is said to be extremely anxious to keep on friendly terms with the United States and if he cannot get our active aid to retain our moral support. The government organs in London are making plain bids for an American alliance.

With this encouraging news from London comes a report from Washington that the Russian Minister is unusually cordial in his attentions to the President and Cabinet. He has taken occasion to remind them of the ancient friendship existing between Russia and the United States and the substantial tokens Russia has given of it in the past. He has also been extremely courteous to the Veni

- STILL CLIMBING.

Yesterday's Sunday Post-Dispatch com pletely outclassed its contemporaries. In the completeness of its news service, in the freshness and variety of its "feature" eading matter and in the beauty of its lustrations it was without a rival among the Synday newspapers of St. Louis.

That the people understand and apreclate this is shown by the steady limbing of its circulation. Yesterday reached the highest mark in the history of the paper. The net circulation was 85,599 copies, or 272 copies more than the previous Sunday, and 2,374 copies more than for the issue of Sunday, Sept. 22.

The advertising showing was equally ratifying. Yesterday's Sunday Post-Dispatch contained 88 columns of paid advertising, as compared with 61 columns in the corresponding Sunday issue last year, a gain of 45 per cent. Of the announcements of our local retail merchants there were 51 columns, or nearly as much as the total advertising in last year's issue.

The Sunday Post-Dispatch is leaving its fat-witted contemporaries far in the

CAMPBELL AND BRICE

It is to be hoped that the report of ex-Goy. Campbell's intention to publicly repudiate Senator Brice land his campaign committees and run as the candilate of the genuine Democracy of Ohio is true.

The reputed cause of the quarrel be tween the ex-Governor and the Senator is not creditable to either the Ohio Democracy or Senator Brice. It is said to be due to the failure of Brice to pay the $100,000 contribution to the campaign fund which he promised on condition that Campbell accept the nomination. The Ohio Democracy is placed in the position of a pensioner on the bounty of Brice and wholly dependent upon his purse for existence. But a repudiation of Brice now would tend to redeem its reputation and rehabilitate it with the people.

It is a disgrace to the Democratic party of Ohio that it should depend upon Brice for its campaign funds and that it can be bribed to support his Senatorial aspirations by a campaign contribution The disgrace would be deeply branded in the party if, in the face of the Sen ator's record, the State ticket should b defeated, as now appears certain, and a Legislature should be elected that will return Brice to the ranks of the "sugar Senators" to again serve as the cunning agent of plutocratic combinations.

The defeat of Brice with the stamp of Democratic condemnation on his back would be worth more to the Ohio Democracy than the election of the whole State ticket through his financial aid.

THE COMBINE MUST GO.

The Sunday Post-Dispatch's interview with State Senator Campbell of Illinois. Chairman of the Senate Committee which nvestigated the bridge combine, has the right ring.

Knowing the facts, the Senator expressed the greatest astonishment at the failure of the grand-jury to find indictbrought out testimony enough to convict and had turned over to Atty.-Gen. Maloney signed documents which were prima facie evidence of the existence of pool. These documents showed that there existed between the bridge, ferry and terminal companies both a tonnage

Senator Campbell expects better results tion will be freer from the powerful in fluences which the combine has fostered by discrimination and which, as he o all in their power to justly remarks, is one of the first wrongs to be struck down. The Senator promise ame been overtaxed and a Federal inquiry and prosecution in the State courts.

There never was a case in which the precautions, can do more to stamp out task of the investigating or prosecuting officer was easier than in this case. The evidence has all been searched out and is ready to hand for use in securing in dictment and conviction.

> While John Sherman is stirring up the illustrious Republican dead, Cassius M. Clay is also not idle. Gen. The General, furthermore, has some impor tant state secrets that he will turn loose Both the General and the Senator ar entertaining writers, and are doing s work that may be of some value to future historians.

Chicago doesn't want to put up any cash for the Republican National Convention. "Not a dollar for the dead horse of four years ago," says the Times Herald, meaning that the Windy is not prepared to pay the Republican committee's arrears of the last campaign. No doubt there are many people in the Windy who are weary of fairs and conventions.

WELL-KNOWN ST. LOUISAN.

Ben Hillman

Ben Hillman, managing partner of Siegel Hillman & Co., was born in Chicago years ago. After a thorough business education, he entered the dry goods business. He worked his way up to the top capacity for several large Chicago dry goods and millinery concerns. Two years ago he came to St. Louis. After managing the millinery department of the old Parisian for a year he bought out the irm in conjunction with the Messrs. Slegel of Chicago. The history of the young house is a key to Mr. Hillman's character. He has decided on St. Louis as his future home, is a large investor in local real estate and is a member of the Mercantile, Louis and Columbian clubs.

Is not this delictously amusing? This scrub editor, whose vast experience qualifies him to look down upon the "shallow and flippant Gladstone," who has only a pairty fifty years' experience as fead of the greatest empire the earth has ever seen, one who has only been the most successful Chancellor of the Exchequer of the British Empire, with an insignificant 380,000,000 of people, whose currencies vary from cowrise helis to diamonds; whose countries comprise about one-fourth of the dry surface of the earth! How can this Gladstone know anything about different currencies? When can he have ever "thought or studied" such a subject as money?

If it is true that what is known as the Merchants' Bridge Company has violated its charter, the Government should take charge of it, and operate it for a tarin simply sufficient to cover cost of repairs.

If such a policy would draw enough of the business from the Rads Bridge to cause its owners to desire to sell out the Government should acquire that also at a fair valuation of the structure without any consideration for the franchise.

We are constantly asking the General Government to make appropriations to improve the rivers and harbors of the country. Five millions employed in bridging the river would be worth more to St. Louis than ten millions spent in improving Louis than ten millions spent in improving the channel. Experience ought to teach us something. It is just as legitimate to bridge a river for the benefit of commerce as it is to dig a canal around falls or shoals. The river itself belongs to the Nation—to all the people. It is wrong in principle to allow corporations to obstruct its channel with piers, and lay unjust tribute upon the people for their own aggrandizement. Let the owner of the river own the bridges across it, and then whatever obstruction ensues is for the benefit of all.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispetch.
Much interest is being manifested by the Democracy of this part of Boone Founty in the discussion as to an early meeting of the State Central Committee. The assumption that possibly a large element of the old committee has a disposition to ignore the new members arouses some fear of divisions in the party organisation that may result in defeat in the campaign of 1896.

The general feeling is that an early meeting of the committee would result in harmonious action, as all true Democrats are willing to abide by the will of the majority when it is fairly expressed. GREAT HORSES ARRIVE.

Rey el Santa Anita and Santiago of "Lucky" Baldwin's String Now Quartered at the Fair Grounds.

John W. Schorr, the wealthy Memphi prewer, and his turf partner, J. E. Cushing brewer, and his turf partner, J. E. Cushing, have separated. Their horses were divided, and each will have his own stable hext season. The pair had a conference the day Miss Norma was run up about dissolving their partnership, and it was arranged on a satisfactory basis. Cushing took Crevasse, Miss Norma and King Dance, while Schorr got Empera, Mordotte, Hex, Carrie C., Tambourine and a 2-year-old maiden. These were the only horses Schorr and Cushing had in partnership. Oakwood, Ashland, by Strathmore, and Plunker were always owned by Cushing alone. George Walker, who assisted Cushing in training the stable, will be with Schorr next season. Johnny Schorr, the stable jockey, will, of course, also remain with his father. Schorr purchased a number of yearlings at Cincinnati recently, and he will have quite a string in 1898. Schorr returned to Memphis Saturday, and his share of the horses will be shipped there and turned out for the winter. Until them all the horses will continue to race in Cushing's name. Schorr, t will be remembered, was formerly in partnership with Otto F. Stiefel, the St. Louis brewer. Together they owned the Sambrinus Stable.

Cushing thinks Oskwood be fully as great a racehorse next on as he was last year.

The enthusiastic meeting of wheelmen at Forest Park Saturday evening in the interest of good roads will have its effect. The number of cyclists in this city has grown so large and includes so many prominent citizens that they will now be able to enforce the work instead of asking it as a concession. Street Commissioner Miner and Sprinkling Superintendent Strait are in hearty sympathy with the move and look to the members of the League of American Wheelmen to aid them in a task in which they have, heretofore, been greatly bandicapped. Both officials have plane for the betterment of the streets and with the backing of the L. A. W. they feel that they can carry them out.

A party of Chicago wheelmen took in the run over the De Soto road Sunday, being escorted by the South Side Cycle Club. The fame of this road is wide-spread and it is known to every cyclist in the United States. President Willison of the L. A. W. expressed a desire while here to make the run over it and it was only on account of pressing business that he left before the opportunity was afforded. Vice President Morrison has been over it and wished to try it again, but he was called home on business. Next year it is proposed to set a day and invite road riders from all over the country to join in a union run.

If it were possible to manufacture a bicycle so perfect in general outline and design that alterations every year would be unnecessary, then might makers give to the all important question of perfecting details the time and attention it so much deserves. When the frame has been so modeled that changes are unnecessary the whole year's energies of a manufacturing plant can be diverted to the perfection of minor parts, with the ultimate object of producing the perfect bicycle.

lev. C. W. Heeffer Believes That Some One Drugged Him.

GREENVILLE, O., Oct. 28.-Rev. C. W. Hoeffer, the Republican candidate for the Legislature accused of offering to sell his vote for $1.500, attempted to preach in the Christian Tabernacle Sunday morning, but was suddenly taken sick and obliged to cut short his discourse.

was suddenly taken sick and obliged to cut short his discourse.

He gave out the hymn, and, after it had been sung, arose, trembling all over. He said: "Last night a boy waked me up at midnight at my house and brought me a powder, which I took. I thought it was from Dr. Kernan, my family physician, at that time, but now I am morally certain that it was not. I hoped it would give me strength, but it had the opposite effect. It will be impossible for me to say anything. This powder has deranged my mind."

With this, he fell into a chair, his head leaning over the back, his arms hanging limp. When revived he said he did not know the boy who brought the medicine. It dazed him, and physicians were called, who said the powder he had taken was atropia. Before taking a seat Mr. Hoeffer declared he was the victim of one of the deepest and boldest schemes ever known in American politics. Mr. Hoeffer is reported to be in a serious condition.

SUSPICION OF MURDER.

Pools of Blood Found in a Room Mysteriously Vacated.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 28 .- A week ago two men whose names are unknown, engaged a room of W. E. Allen of 37 Pine street. Several times they quarreled. Between Saturday night and Sunday morning the room was vacated and all that remains to indicate that is was occupied is several large pools of blood and the bloodstained walls seed furnitive.

cate that is was occupied is several large pools of blood and the bloodstained walls and furniture.

A peculiar feature of the case is that the towels which were left in the room for the use of the two men have disappeared as mysteriously and as completely as the men themselves. While it seems hardly possible that a man could lose so much blood and still live the police express the opinion that no murder was committed and say they don't believe a body could be taken from the building without some one knowing it. Nevertheless a half dozen detectives are working on the case and it is announced that the search will not be given up until one or both of the men who occupied the room have been found and made to explain how it came to be stained with blood.

GOT UP AND WATCHED THE FIRE. West End Boarders Lost Two Hours' Sleep Monday Morning.

Sleep Monday Morning.

The boarding house of Mrs. Susan Taylor at 3202 Locust, at 1 o'elock Monday morning, and the twenty or more boarders lost an hour or two's sleep in consequence. Fire originated because of some defect with the hot air furnace, and crept up between the partitions in the front of the house. The limmates were aroused and left their rooms and calmiy watched the fremen extinguish the blaze. In a few minutes they returned and passed the remainder of the night peacefully. The damage to the house was about $200. The carpets and much bricabrac were damaged, but the loss otherwise is slight, and is covered by insurance.

MAD PATIENT

Winifred McDonnell's Savage Attack on Nurse Cantwell.

ALMOST CHOKED TO DEATH

Dr. Wolfort and John O'Neil Interfered and Were Laid Out With Kicks

in Their Stemachs.

It took five or six stalwart helpers aroun hospital to evercome her. he patient was Winifred McDonnell struggle, rushed into the cell to see what was the matter.

She is unusually large and strong, as after-developments plainly showed. She has been at the City Hospital for several days in one of the observation cells. Her insanity being no longer a matter of doubt, it was decided this morning to send her out to the Insane Asylum. Miss Cantwell, one of the nurses at the hospital, went into the woman's cell to prepare her for the journey. The patient was caim enough, but Miss Cantwell was no sooner inside the iron doors than the McDonnell woman sprang upon her and seized her by the throat. The nurse is a frail woman and in the grasp of the maniac she was like a child. She screamed for help, but the tightening fingers of the crazy woman choked her voice into silence. She was being rapidly borne back onto the cot, where her life would have been squeezed out of her, when John O'Nell, a helper, and Dr. Louis Wolfort, hearing the sounds of the struggle, rushed into the cell to see what was the matter.

They quickly dragged the maniac from the prostrate nurse, and then she turned on them. Before they could prevent her she had landed a victous kick in the pit of O'Nell's stomach. He doubled up like a jack knife, and was useless thereafter to Dr. Wolfort. The woman pitched into the latter and made things interesting for him. The doctor is not a large man, but he is pretty lively, and he put up a light worthy of a catch-as-catch-can wrestler. The woman had the advantage of the physician, for he was trying to fight fair, while she did not object to using any of nature's weapons, from her teeth to her toe-nails:

He first tried to wrap his arms about her and thus pinton her arms to her side, intending to hold her and call for help. He might just as well have tried to hold the pistons of an engine after a pistonhead had blown out. She didn't do a thing to him. A rubber ball wasn't a circumstance to the way he bounced around that cell. Finally he saw that he was outclassed and attempted to make his escape and stepped back preparatory to making a run for it, when up came the woman's foot. It landed in the doctor's stomach and while it hurt him seriously it was of material assistance in getting him out of the cell. He went a flying.

The noise of the combat had attracted several attendants to the scene by this time, and under the able direction of Dr. Wolfort, who was physically hors du combat, the now exhausted woman was overcome and manacled. She was then put in the ambulance and driven to the Insane Asylum

Mr. Sellman is a tailor, and has his little shop in the front of the second story. Two rooms are occupied by the family for living purposes, and in one of these a low, cheap gasoline store is used by Mr. Sellman to heat his pressing irons.

Monday he put on his irons and went out to visit a neighbor. The baby was playing in the front room and his wife was at work in the kitchen. Shortly afterward she had occasion to go down stairs.

She had not left the room ten minutes until she was startled by agonized screams from her little daughter and she fairly flew back up stairs. As she entered the room a horrible sight greeted her.

Helma was standing by a cot in the front room with her clothing in flames and the blaze was circling around her head. Mrs. Sellman tore a blanket from one of the beds and throwing the little one on the floor, tried to extinguish the flames.

The intense pain made the baby frantic and she struggled with her mother until the latter tore the cichning from Helma's body. By this time Mr. Sellman arrived, and he put out the burning fragments of clothing, which threatened to destroy his household effects, and hastily summoned Dr. Rohlfing, whose office is at Elghth and Biddle streets.

MAUD LEWIS GIVES BOND.

She Has Gone to Live With Relatives , in This City.

Maud Lewis departed from the Four Courts prison at 1 o'clock Monday after-noon. She had given bond in the sum of noon. She had given bond in the sum of $4,000 to appear to answer for the murder of Senator Peter R. Morrissey, with her brother-in-law, Rufus J. Spaulding, and Charles D. Comfort as sureties.

She was brought into the Criminal Court at 12:30 o'clock to sign the bond. Judge Edmunds, after accepting it, told the woman he must report daily in the court room. signified her acquiescence by a nod almost inaudible "Yes sir," and ded.

DEATHS.

SWEEPING ALL.

IN A TANTRUM. Indiana Prairie Fires Devastating Everything in Their Path.

CROWN POINT, Ind., Oct. 28.—Should no rain fall in the next twenty-four hours and the high winds continue to-day, the south-ern portion of Porter County and part of Jasper, consisting of nearly 50,000 acres, will be a heap of ashes. Near Koutz three lives are reported lost and one man, Jonah Poole, was fatally burned. The names of the dead are unknown.

Already 12,000 acres have been burned over and the fire is increasing rapidly.

People living at Baum's bridge, four miles from the flames, are preparing to move. Thousands upon thousands of tons of hay were consumed last night and this morning, and 1150,000 worth of fatted cattle, owned by Nelson Morris of Chicago, are in great danger. The herd of 2,700 is now being driven South.

No estimate of the damage can be made, but it will reach easily $50,000 to $75,000, if not much more. Five miles east of Koutz another fire is raging, but not of so much importance. Farmers for ten miles around are forming parties to protect their homes. The fire was caused by sparks from an engine.

The joint committee appointed by the Council and House to conduct a complete invastigation of the new City Hall from its inception down to the present will meet in the Council Chamber at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon to organize and prepare for business. Messrs. P. H. Clark, George P. Heckel and Halsey C. Ives compose the Council committee, and John P. Marshall, Hiram Lloyd and W. C. Kelly the House committee. It is likely that Mr. Heckel will be elected Chalrman, as he was the prime mover in presenting the resolutions for the organization of the committee.

City Counselor Marshall will act as counsel for the committee and conduct the examination of witnesses.

Engineer Carl Gaylor and his assistants are hard at work making the further examinations of the building recently ordered by the Board of Public Improvements. A partial report will be made Thursday of this latest investigation, which may develop deficiencies in other contracts.

As R. Lentster, the engineer employed by Aachitect. Mann to examine the building, has completed his report, but declines to make its public at present. He intimates, lowever, that he is prepared to refute many of Engineer Gaylor's statements.

SHRINKING OF A CHILD.

Remarkable Case of Marie Sinclair, Who Daily Becomes Smaller.

special to The Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Oct. 28.-Marie Sinclair is a bright little 9-year-old girl of Brooklyn, bout whom all the doctors will soon be talking. The one thing that makes little Marie conspicuous among all the children maller and smaller-shrinking, shrinking smaller and smaller-situating. Situating, while her parents and all the wise men in the land can do nothing to stop this cruel contraction of the little girl's limbs.

Those who know insist that Marie presents a problem in physiology the like of which was never before heard of. She suf-

"Tell the bimetallists of the West to be of good cheer. We are all right in Kentucky, and victory is assured our cause in the election next week. The improvement in the situation, during the past month has exceeded my most sanguine expectations. Wat Hardin and the entire Democratic ticket will be elected by a majority of at least 12,000. The ticket will reach Louisville with about 20,000 majority, and the gang in that city can not get votes enough to overcome this or cut the figure on the general result down to less than 12,000.

"As to my re-election, I feel absolutely secure. Of the one hundred and nineteen members of the Legislature to be elected we will elect at least seventy-five of them. Add this to the fourteen holdover Senators, and you will see that on a joint ballot we will have between ninety and one hundred votes out of a total membership of 188. There is no longer any flight on me within the party. The only thing I now have to fear is a combination of gold-bug Democrats with gold-bug Republicans to be brought about by the liberal use of money. "However, this does not cause me much apprehension, as not a handful of gold bug Democrats will get to the Legislature, though I know the plans are maturing for such a combination. In my calculations of our strength on a joint ballot in the Legislature I left Louisville wholly out of the count. I will be my own successor in the United States Senate, despite the systematic lying and persistent misrepresentation of the Leuisville gewapers."

Senator Blackburn never looked healther or seemed more cheerful. He has appointments to speak every day this week.

UNCLE FILLEY IS COLD.

He Wen't See Reporters, and Says He Has Nothing to Say.

Since he came back from that trip to New York, where he was in the president-making conference with Platt, Clarkson, Quay and other Republican party leaders, your Uncle Filley won't talk to newspaper your Uncle Filley won't talk to newspaper men. He is not answering that rib roast that R. C. Kerens gave him Saturday.

A Post-Dispatch reporter called at the mosque this morning and asked De Ole Man, "How it is?" The sage said "nit."

He sat at the big table in his cosy diningroom eating an English stew. The colored man was sent in with a polite note requesting an interview. The epistle contained a reminder of how chummy the reporter and De Ole Man used to be, but it didn't go. didn't go.
Pretty soon the colored man returned and said:
"Mr. Filley says he hasn't got anything

"Mr. Filley says he hasn't got anything to say."
Then he made a reach for the big door knob in a fashion that meant "We're through with you here," and the door swung open to let the newspaper man out into the free air once more, and the teller of this story walked down the white marble steps in a retrospective mood, thinking how he used to be next to "the boss," and wondering why it is that he can't touch him now.

BELLEVILLE NEWS.

The new West Main street bridge was tested this afternoon in the presence of the Mayor and Aldermen. The Councilmen met at the City Hall at 1 o'clock in response to the Mayor's request and proceeded to the bridge in a body for the purpose of witnessing the test. The new bridge is built of concrete and is the first one of its kind constructed here. It is like an arch of solid rock, and it is claimed that it will last for ages. It is paved with brick and has granitoid sidewalks, and is altogether a fine appearing structure. The cost of the bridge is about $11,000. The grade of Main street from the bridge east to the of the considerably, reducing the stant of the hill and greatly improving the street. The new bridge is located a little to the north of the old one, and the sharp curve in the streat at the creek has been almost eliminated by the change. A brick pavement is now being laid from Race street to the new bridge. The Councilmen also inspected the new sewer on Freeburg sevenue this afternoon.

Judge Wilderman took up the oriminal docket in the Circuit Court this morning. Criminal cases are set for the whole week. Among those on the calendar are the cases against William Cesteris for the murder of Albert Dawson at Lebanon, and that against Carl Miller for forgery and fraud. It is understood that both sides will be ready for trial when the murder case, is called.

CHICAGO MAY'S RECORD. The Most Notorious Female Criminal of the Country.

of the Country.

Brecial to The Post-Dispatch,
NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—"Chicago May"
will be arraigned in the Jefferson Market
Police Court to-morrow and Commodore
Gerry will himself appear to prosecute her.
The President and Secretary of the Society for the Prevention of Cruety to Children were in consultation yesterday afternoon and the case of this little criminal freak was under consideration. It has been decided to press a dual charge against the girl of associating with immoral persons for immoral purposes and of corrupting the morals of children.

to press a dual charge against the gar associating with immoral persons for immoral purposes and of corrupting the morals of children.

Mr. Gerry is in possession of "Chicago May's" record from her birth.

She was born in Chicago in 1889, so that, despite her protests that she was 18 years old, she is not yet 16.

"Chicago May's" real name is Mary Velchs. She is a product of that part of Chicago called the "Lava Beds," a district on the West Side, which has graduated some of the most notorious American criminals. In her earliest youth the girl came within the influence of Minnie Daly, who was for years a thorn in the side of the Chicago police, until she married a fellow criminal named "Clabby" Burns and disappeared from view.

Such comparatively simple crimes as meak-thievery, pocket-picking or common larceny are for the clumster criminals. "Chicago May" has never practiced them, except as an incident to her more serious pursuits. Here was the genius of a female Puck gone wrong, and her motto was, "What fools these mortals be."

If to-morrow's case results disastrously for this little monster many a man who treads the primrose path of the Rislito will draw a long breach of relief, for she has tried to blackmail many in this city.

The police claim to have gained information which leads them to the belief that the bombs were manufactured and left in the places where they were found by friends of the strikers. The police say that there are three or four pronounced Anarchists in the city who have since the strike made murderous threats against tailoring manufacturers.

publics against further European aggressions on this hemisphere continues to attract atetntion. It is beginning to be felt, it is said, throughout all Latin-America, and the more intelligent promoters of it expect to arouse the people of the United States to the necessity of joining with them in a policy of firm opposition to any further absorption of territory in Central America or Venezuela.

England is regarded as the worst offender, being stimulated by her greed and needing to be continually watched, as she is endeavoring to outwit the United States, looked to by all Latin-America to enforce the Monroe doctrine.

The most ardent Continental Americanists urge that all European nations having colonies be given notice to abandon their possessions and leave the new world forever. They say: "If these nations want to settle the matter by force of arms let it come to that, and let all the countries of the New World agree to a policy of high protection against Europe and free trade among themselves.

"The America for Americans" movement is gaining ground with the younger men of the upper classes from 'Mexico to Argentha, It is felt that as long as Europe has any stake in this hemisphere, it cannot resist the temptation on the pretext of boundary disputes to grab more territory.

From Its Sessions.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 28.—Secretary Sheerin of the Democratic National Committee, in an interview regarding the outlook of the next national convention, said that the general public might be excluded from the sessions, although he personally did not favor the plan.

"You will remember," said Mr. Sheerin, "that at our last convention a resolution was passed and referred to the National Committee, with power to act, favoring for the next convention accommodations for the next convention accommodations for the press, the National Committee and none others. At the first regular meeting of the committee held after the Chicago convention this matter was referred to a committee of five to report at the meeting of the committee to be called to make arrangements for the convention of 1896. If the National Committee follows the recommendation of he last national convention and confines the accommodations to the limitations suggested there will not be a large attendance, for few people would go to a national convention if there were no hope at all of being present at any of its deliberations.

INSURANCE OF LABORERS.

How the Law Has Worked in Germany the Past Ten Years.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 28.-United zerland, has supplied the State Department with an interesting report upon the operation of Germany's law for the insurance of laborers against sickness, accident and old age, which has now been in operation for ten years. It appears that there has been paid on account of this insurance from the time the law went into effect $437,500,000, the Government, the employers and the employers sharing the expense. Mr. Germaine mentions the fact that the German industrials complain of the heavy tax involved in the payment of the insurance, but the report indicates that the nation is as a whole, proud of the institution. The Germans are the pioneers in this class of insurance, but Austria has partially followed suit and Switzerland is now engaged in formulating a labor insurance law. Mr. Germaine says that Sweden and Norway and Great Britain also contemplate the adoption of the German system. zerland, has supplied the State Department

Not Volcanie Fires.

Not Volcanic Fires.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Oct. 28.—The exploring party which went into the Olympic Mountains seeking evidences of alleged volcanic fires has returned after an unsuccessful trip. They reached the summit of the first range and ascertained that the smoke and flames emanated from a deep ravine leading down from the mountain peak and which was filled with dead timber. In the same ravine is a lead of lignite coal, which was ignited, and as the fire followed up the vein caving boulders and falling earth caused the flames to ascend similar to volcanic fires.

In the last few days the flames almost subsided, though vast volumes of smoke continue to roll upward. After convincing themselves of the cause and origin of the fires they hurriedly returned to Port Townsend.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.-Railroad men mei in secret in Metropolitan Hall, Brooklyn, and organized a local branch of the Ameri can Railway Union. The exercises were conducted by Director M. J. Elliott of the union, who turned over the charter which he had brought from Chicago. About 200 rail-union, who turned over the charter which he had brought from Chicago. About 200 railroad men from the elevated and surface roads, both steam and electric, were present and joined the new organization.

Mr. Elliott, with five other directors of the American Railway Union, was released from prison on Aug. 22, since when all of them have been traveling through the country organizing branches of the union. Mr. Elliott came East, Wm. Burns, having headquarters in Chicago, organized in Illinois. James Hogan is stationed in Ogden, Utah; R. M. Goodwin in Montana, Sylvester Kellher in Minneapolis and T. W. The greatest secrecy is maintained about the working of the union and all the meetings are being held behind closed doors. The coming of the union to the East is looked upon by railroad managers with no little unessiness, as the strength of the order is daily increasing and the membership at present is said to be not far from 175,000.

Adolph E. Shaefer has been made organiz-er for New York State. Director Elliott will leave for the West to-day, being well satisfied with the result of his labors in this section.

DISPERSED BY WASPS.

Why the Services in a Methodist Church Were Abbreviated.

cial to The Post-Dispatch. SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., Oct. 28,-The SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., Oct. 28.—The New Cansan Methodist Church was filled yesterday morning and the sexton lighted the fires for the first time this season. He was very careful about the fire, but he did not recken on the wasps that had made the church their home during the summer. When the wasps began to swarm out in bunches, on the walls the deacons became nervous, and when the insects began to mistake millinery flowers for wild weeds and the minister for an aggressive enemy, nervousness became general. Services were abbreviated because the visitors, like the locusts in Revelation, "had tails like unto scorpions, and there were stings in their tails and their power was to hurt men five months."

minating of a peculiar mystery that has puzzled this town for two years.

He is the famous "cloakman" who has terrorized women and children so long. A great crowd followed him to the station house and the angry citizens wanted to mob him. When taken into the Justice's office it was found that the prisoner wore a complete outfit of woman's dress, even to underclothing, corsets and long stockings. He wore fancy slippers, was powdered and perfumed, and carried a dainty hand-kerchief, gloves and a lady's leather pocket-book. The outer dress was, of fancy beaded slik, with big puff sleeves. On the prisoner's head was a wig of fashionable shape and very blonde, and a fancy comb held it down. The hat was of dark straw, brightly trimmed with big feathers. All the clothing was bright and new, and the underclothing was of spotless white and newly laundered.

Stillwagen has been separated from his wife for two years, and the reason he gave for wearing woman's clothing was to run down the man who he says has been paying attention to his wife. He is now in jail and still wears the up-to-date female garb. He is never known to have harmed any persone except to frighten women.
